Policy in India Backed by U.S.

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The United States Tuesday threw its moral support behind Britain's efforts to set up an independent India by June, 1948, and urged India's leading political factions to get together.

State Secretary Marshall, in announcing American backing for Britain's program, warned that civil strife in India could become the source of "new international tensions in a world only now beginning to grope its way back to peace."

LONDON, (AP)—The government was threatened with a vote of censure in the House of Commons on Tuesday night as a result of its decision to free India by June 1948—a decision characterized by Lord Templewood as "a gambler's throw."

Templewood, formerly Sir Samuel Hoare, one-time foreign secretary, moved Tuesday night that the government's stand be condemned "as likely to imperil the peace and prosperity of India."

The conservative majority in the house of lords indicated confidence that the motion would be adopted after continued debate on the Indian situation Wednesday.

Passage of the censure motion in the house of lords would not invalidate the government's decision because the power to reverse the government.

In the commons, meanwhile, Prime Minister Atlee declared India would be responsible for her own security after independence was granted, but indicated Britain would be willing to negotiate a treaty of great assistance.

LAHORE, Punjab, India, (Reuters)—A month's agitation involving hundreds of arrests in Punjab province was called off by the Moslems.

OTTAWA—There will be no restrictions on the amount of wheat a farmer may deliver and sell.

LONDON, (CP)—The secretary, Ben, defending the government's decision to free India by June 1948, told the commonwealth that the commonwealth would be free to trade with India.

But, said Ben, the statesman didn't take out.

Police Soldiers Battle Frenzied Ex-Prisoners

BRUSSELS, (AP)—Belgian police and soldiers, backed by machineguns and armored cars, Wednesday battled off more than 50,000 frenzied former prisoners of war and deportees attempting to storm the government buildings, and settled down Wednesday night.

Firearms, sabres and rifle butts were used to break up the demonstration. Unconfirmed reports said a dozen persons were killed, but only one fatality could be ascertained.

The rioting began as an orderly parade, a demonstration by the organizations of former prisoners of the Germans. They have been demanding that the government accord them a special legal status and payment of the remaining half of a bonus promised them during the war.

Scores were trampled. Windows were smashed by the weight of crowds pressing against store fronts. Bottles were hurled toward the triple police lines, and at one time all three lines were broken.

Hero of Leningrad Seeks Quilt Post

LONDON, (AP) — Marshal Zhukov, hero of the Battle of Leningrad, has asked to be relieved of his post as chairman of the council of the union of the supreme soviet, the Moscow radio Tuesday.

The reason, the broadcast said, was "because of his poor health."

Zhdanov is secretary of the central committee of the Communist party and has been a leading figure in the post-war drive to purge Soviet literature and art of influences to stray from their ideological aims. He has been mentioned in western newspaper speculation as a possible successor to Stalin.

The post which Zhukov is relinquishing is leadership of the smaller of the two houses of Russia's parliament. There was some indication of the significance of his resignation.

B.C. Sees Surplus In Record Budget

VICTORIA, (CP) — The largest surplus in the history of the province, with estimated revenues for 1947-48 placed at approximately $200,000,000 and expenditures at $178,243,000, was outlined to the legislature Tuesday by Finance Minister Atchison.

In his first budget address, Mr. Atchison told the house that current expenditures of $198,073,000 for 1947-48 would be less than the estimated total revenue of $200,000,000.

Mr. Atchison made no change but he warned: "We have nearly reached the limits of spending if we are to maintain record of balanced budgets without resorting to new taxation during the next five years."

He said other sources of income have been found to take care of ever-increasing social service and education.

The speaker's cabinet control was approved the almost unprecedented action of government ministers to be present at the address and statement which Mr. Atchison made last week.

In the statement, he charged "cabinet control" of the government and suggested that other Social Credit members to help stop this control.

Immediately on the opening of the house Tuesday night, Mr. Wray got to his feet declaring the house had agreed last year to the abolition of certain reports. In the light of this he asked that the report of the provincial fire commissioner on an explosion in Calgary be tabled.

It was not until the end of the session that Mr. Wray, minister of health, would get to his feet to operate in the constituency of Colquhoun.

In a statement Tuesday night, Mr. Wray said the premier had finally denied his question about the cause last year. He added the new request from the speaker would not be complied with.

"I am a genuine supporter of the democratic principles of Douglas (Mac) Douglas, founder of the movement and will carry on in my appointed position as such," declared Mr. Wray.

Will Speak in Debate

He said he would not put the entire question before the house when he spoke in the debate on the throne speech report. No time has been allotted so far for Mr. Wray's address.

The accusation by the premier that I have betrayed party loyalty is merely a hoax which was verified by me by the attorney-general Tuesday night. Mr. Wray declared. He was apparently referring to the fact that he had happened in caucus Premier Manning's speech to make a point about Mr. Wray and the party since he had been elected.

Last week, the premier decided to comment on the question when queried by reporters.

Commenting on Mr. Wray's statement, Premier Manning Wednesday said: "The allegations by Mr. Wray are utterly untrue and completely false." The premier said he had refrained from commenting from consulting public opinion on the situation because the action being taken was being done by government members as a group.

Chinese Smugglers Yield by Day; Fight Only if Caught at Night

HONG KONG, (Reuters) — Wolfen smuggling is in the waning stages of concern to the British army frontier patrol in the Sino-British border in the new territory, 30 miles from Hong Kong.

During the daytime they sleep by the Chinese many automobiles, there is a sort of mutual agreement between them and the Chinese customs officials on the border police, that if the officials catch any smugglers during the daytime, they are perfectly within their rights to arrest them.

At night, however, a "shoot at sight" rule is followed by the smugglers if anyone attempts to stop them. To protect the customs men respect this.

British frontier patrol, however, have no such respect with the result there are running battles when the police challenge the smugglers.

Officers were a favorite hiding place for wolfen until the British police, by chance, found one and found about 500 pounds of opium in the car. Small quantities were also conveyed under the chassis of trucks, but this method was discovered.

Report Wilgess Going to Moscow

OTTAWA, (CP) — It is reliably reported that Lord Dawson, Canadian ambassador to Russia, is making rapid plans to hurry to Moscow to be present when the Big Four foreign ministers meet there March 18.

There was no particular surprise in Ottawa when the special dispatch meeting in London broke up without finding a formula for writing the German peace treaty and without the draft of an Austrian treaty.

Observers here feel that the London disagreements, come hope the dominion's demand for participation by the smaller powers may yet be met. Hence the importance of having the Canadian ambassador present in Moscow.

Wilgess has not been in Moscow for more than a year—since the apy trip, in fact.

Alberta Dairymen Ask Rail Hearing

OTTAWA, (CP) — The C.P.R. does not anticipate any great increase in the year's revenue from industries that were tied up in 1946 by strikes.

According to the railways' application for freight-rate increases, C.R. Jefferson, C.P.R. freight traffic manager, declared revenue lost in 1946 through strikes was not heavy.

Mr. Jefferson was questioned by J. R. Johnston, member of the C.P.R. committee of freight in fact—rather than in name.

Mr. Johnston said that the C.P.R. had increased its average "L.C.L." loadings from 40 to more than 45 tons per car.

Mr. Johnston read an order from the transport controller saying, "The railways' application to be loaded to 'maximum capacity' is not in the public interest."

But large daily papers will be possible by the end of 1948, he predicted.

No Agreement On Amount

COUNCIL DEADLOCKS ON GRANT TO HOME

City council Tuesday night deadlocked on the amount of assistance to be given to the Edmonton Home for Ex-Servicemen's children, when a tie vote occurred on a motion and an amendment dealing with a grant for the home.

One group favored a grant equal to the 1947 taxes, and free utilities for this year only. The others would limit the grant to free utilities. It was pointed out by Mayor Harry Ainlay that a grant for taxes would result in similar organizations seeking the same treatment, and as there were approximately 30 of them in the city, the cost would be extremely heavy.

The annual taxes on the home amount to $1,187, and the estimated cost of utilities was $1,000.

With the deadlocked vote, the question of assistance for the home will be dropped from council's agenda, unless revived by a member of council, or a renewed application is made by sponsors of the home.

Decision to be Given Later

Board Hears Appeals For Free Text Books

Representatives of 11 civic organizations, including community leagues, fraternal organizations, unions, and political groups present at the meeting Tuesday night of the Edmonton public school board, heard the motion, brought forward by Trustee Dr. J. L. Morrison, that the board provide free text books for all pupils under its jurisdiction, referred to the finance committee of the board.

DECISION of the board will be given at a public meeting of the board at some future date, probably in a month's time, Dr. Morrison stated.

J. C. Macdonald, chairman of the board, stated later that the cost of providing free textbooks would be in the neighborhood of $80,000, with yearly amounts to cover depreciation and renewal necessary.

The representatives of the groups present were given an opportunity to speak in support of the motion. Their letters had been received.

Explains Resistance Movement

General Says France Has No "War Guilt"

France doesn't "feel guilty" about the last war. She feels she was just part of a "general weakness" among the Allied powers, General Guillaud de Benouville, among the four generals leading the French resistance movement during the years of the German occupation, said in an interview here Wednesday.

ACCOMPANIED by his wife, Madame de Benouville, the French underground leader is touring Canada, to "explain to the Canadian people" the nature of the great resistance movement in France.

France lost 800,000 men in the Second World War, and for one month, he said, alone the mightiest German war machine in the world crushed the Allied Nations five years to crush.

"THAT IS WHY we have no guilty feeling because of the military collapse," the general said. "We are proud of the resistance in France which has been continued, he said.

France will never "go communist" in the Russian sense, and for a particular reason, according to General de Benouville. The French Communists have so much responsibility for the resistance that they are a strength that the party cannot indulge in the destruction of the country.

"THEY HAVE TO HELP France," he pointed out. The broad-based front of the resistance also makes for strange friendships between leftists and rightists in France.

The general also predicts a return to a position of leadership by the French in Europe.

France will find indefinitely for long-term Allied control of Germany, he said. If Germany is permitted to only one will try the same thing again.

"We in France know Germany. We will never consent to her having complete control over her industry," he added.

WHILE IN EDMONTON General de Benouville addressed members of the French Alliance organization in the Macdonald hotel. Wednesday he was scheduled to deliver an address at the University of Alberta.

16 Classifications Included

100% ASSESSMENT ON SOME PAVING

Six classifications of city property will be assessed 100 percent on paving flagging about the property, it was decided by city council Tuesday night.

Recommendation that "B" three-story multiple dwelling, "E" six-story multiple dwelling, "F" three-story business, "G" light industry, "H" general business and "I" heavy industry zones be assessed 100 percent on all paving flagging about the property, was made by the commissioners and was adopted by city council.

At a special meeting of the Town Planning Commission's meeting of Jan. 17, approval was given to a recommendation by the city engineer that in future residential flagging be assessed on a basis of one-third against the property owner, and the other two-thirds to be borne by the city at large.

Council approved also that in all other classifications, including "A" local business, that the city engineer's recommendation be followed.

Firm Won't Grant Basements

Ask Wartime Housing For 250 More Homes

City Council Tuesday night authorized the commissioners to request Wartime Housing Ltd. to erect 250 basementless homes here during the 1947 building season, following a report from the commissioners that the crown company had not started work on the suggestion that houses here be constructed on full basements to satisfactorily meet winter conditions.

IF THE CROWN company undertakes the construction of 250 basementless homes it will bring to 120 the number of dwellings erected in the city by Wartime Housing Ltd.

By Mayor Harry Ainlay informed council that officials of the crown company had advised the commissioners that tenders had been called for the erection of 250 homes in the residential zone. He said that they were opposed to the construction of basementless homes, but the company's decision to build without basements, left them no option.

IT WAS REPORTED also that other western cities had protested against the construction of homes without basements, but all protests had been turned aside by the crown company.

Commissioner Hodgson said that no action had been taken by the Edmonton Home Builders Association on their proposal to submit a formal motion to the city council. It was not likely that private enterprise would undertake such a project.

Ald. Fred J. Mitchell asked council to instruct the city to be constructed in the city had been constructed. He said that his information was that many direct details of construction remained still uncompleted.

Ald. J. H. OGILVIE was opposed to the construction of the houses because the houses were a national matter, and should not be placed on municipalities because of the limited taxation funds. He was opposed also because the proposed motion was unsuitable for this climate.

The committee members nominated are: Ald. Sidney Rowlett, A. M. Dechene, D. B. Meislin, Mrs. J. C. Walker, M. M. Downey, W. E. Edmonds, to serve until Dec. 31, 1947, and J. E. Garfield, K. C. and Mrs. Margaret Williams to serve until December 31, 1948.

The inaugural meeting of the committee will be held by Mayor Harry Ainlay in the near future.

The committee will gather historical data concerning Edmonton, and will arrange for its classification, presentation to the public, and its presentation.

AUTO LOOTED

He stated that the drug would not be of much use to him, while the auto was parked at the rear of the doctor's home. A front window was broken in the auto and the doctor's tag lifted.

Word has been received in Edmonton of the death of Victor B. C. on Jan. 24, 1947, of King's Burgers, who, until moving to the coast more than a year ago, had been a resident of Edmonton for 35 years.

Soil Conservation Studied at Course

Opening topic explained Tuesday to about 30 farmers attending the three-day agricultural short course was given by H. J. Mather, president of the field crops department of agriculture. His subject was an illustrated lecture on soil conservation and weed control.

CHARLES E. GARNETT, president of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, in extending a welcome to the farmers, observed that many had had to buck heavy snowdrifts in order to attend the course. He was particularly appreciative of the initial turnout in view of these conditions.

The course is the fourth since its inception in 1944 under sponsorship of the chamber and the department of agriculture. A welcome was also extended on behalf of the department by R. M. Putnam, director of extension services.

B. J. Whitbread, district agricultural extension officer, presided over the opening of the course, and said he believed its value was becoming increasingly apparent in the advances made on farms near the city, from which a majority of the farmers found it most convenient to attend.

WORK OF HIS department was endeavoring to carry agricultural information to the more remote areas, so that the benefits of farming progress would be made available to a greater number.

Benefits of the course were great, he believed, and urged all farmers in a desire to do so to attend discussions and lectures by experts at these annual short courses.

Main topic of Mr. Mather's lecture on soils was in advising farmers to put into practice on their farms some of the advice on improvement which was based on scientific experimentation, and found to be practical.

SLIDES SHOWN in his lecture dealt with profiles of four types of topsoil, most productive of which was the deep black loam. This required care in cultivation. He demanded a return of fire and root systems in order to prevent soil erosion blowing out of seeded crops.

The girl, similarly charged, pleaded guilty and was given a 12-month suspended sentence.

Plan Extension Library Service

Negotiations are being carried on between the Edmonton Transportation System and the Edmonton public library board for the purchase of a bus, it was announced Tuesday by Thomas Ferrier, superintendent of the transportation system.

If the deal is completed this will be the first of the extension of the travelling library system put into operation by the library board several years ago.

Negotiations also are taking place between a business man and the system for the purchase of another bus. Mr. Ferrier said the buses it is proposed to sell were purchased by the system about 10 years ago.

Seek to Change Beverly's Status

Application of Beverly payable to the city for revocation of a Board of Utility Commissioners' order, declaring Beverly a mining town, opened at the courthouse Monday before G. M. Blackstock, KC, chairman of the board, and Commissioner Bruce V. Macle.

SIDNEY B. LEE, administrator of the town, is joining the ratepayers in the application for revocation of the order because of the "serious situation resulting from present mining operations."

The application is being opposed by Beverly Coal Ltd., which is operating in the area. H. Nicholson, KC, is representing the ratepayers, and S. Bruce Smith, KC, for the company.

Beverly was declared a mining town on May 9, 1932, under the provisions of the Municipal Operations Act, and the present application is for revocation of that order.

MR. BLACKSTOCK, at the opening of the hearings, said that one of the reasons for the ratepayers could not be considered by the board was that a matter beyond its constitutional authority.

This resolution asked that the company be made liable for all damage to property resulting from mining operations.

Mr. Nicholson, for the company, submitted that the ratepayers did not present applications, and the town's stopped from making it. Counsel's objections were noted by the commissioners.

REPLY B. LAWTON, Beverly city teacher, told the commissioners that six houses located on street above the town were showing signs of 10 to 15 degrees of slump. He reviewed the history of mining in the area leading up to the application to have Beverly declared a mining town.

same books used by older children. J. P. Finemore, representing the duty of the board to see that every child in Edmonton was given the best opportunity for education possible. He said that young people now going into business with only grade VIII standing, were discriminated against in promotion and advancement.

"A HIGH SCHOOL diploma as necessary today," he said, "for advancement as the grade VIII diploma was 25 years ago."

S. C. Nicholson, Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, said that many of low income groups were unable to finance further schooling for their children after grade VIII, with the result their children had not had an equal chance of success in life, with others.

Also present to lend support to the motion were A. Mogridge, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America; Mrs. J. Moon Halker, Edmonton Housewives League; and Riverside Community League and women's group and Mrs. Julia Kesseli, Cloverdale Community League.

ALSO SUPPORTING the motion were the CNR Employees Local Federation; the Canadian Legion; Edmonton Trades and Labor Council and others.

Information compiled by the school board revealed the cost of text books to be $2,272, that can be depended upon for quick results and give you about 4 times as much for your money. And when it comes to the quality of the books, you'll find them to be of the highest quality.

Twenty-one Charter Amendments Sought

Twenty-one charter amendments will be sought by the city at the next session of the legislature. Tuesday night city council endorsed all the proposed amendments.

MAYOR THOMAS deal with changes in the wording of charter sections, and some with the cancellation of obsolete sections.

One amendment will empower council to have property owners assessed with storm and sanitary sewers, where such storm sewers are constructed in cases where the owners of existing property are requested to make the connection, it will be delayed by the city. All new construction, it will be necessary, connect with both sewers, the cost to be borne by the owner.

THE CONSTRUCTION of separate storm sewers in certain parts of the city is being undertaken in the near future, because existing sewers are becoming overloaded.

Council approved the proposed application for an amendment which would establish the two-year term for mayor at the 1947 municipal election, subject to the approval of the legislature.

It was approved were proposed amendments to give the city power to limit the number of taxable operating in the city and also to prohibit, or regulate, operations of non-residential stationary units, such as those used at skating rinks.

ANOTHER AMENDMENT approved will give the city power to enforce the filling in, or fencing, of an existing open depression, or cellar, which in the opinion of the city is a nuisance, or is injurious to property, or which may constitute a nuisance. In case of non-compliance with the property owner, the city can have the work done, and charge the cost against the property.

Power will be sought in another amendment to permit the city to enter into agreements with abutting municipalities, with respect to any matters concerning health, sanitation, fire, police or zoning, and to install parking meters on high-traffic streets.

AN AMENDMENT also will be sought giving the city power to institute daylight saving time in the city.

Lauds Removal Of Tax on Fish

Commending the recent action of the provincial government in removing a tax on fish, H. C. Montague, president of the Edmonton Cooperative Marketing Association, will be invited to attend the next meeting of the association, with a view to presenting the case for the removal of the tax in regard to the securing of more meat for their animals.

It was decided to prepare a memorial for publication in the Fur Trade Review and Fur Fashion magazine of New York. D. R. HARDY, chairman of a committee, gathered statistics on fur farm production, gave his report.

Following the meeting, a gathering of the Edmonton Fur Farm cooperative organization was held.

Perturbed over the number of assault charges that are laid and then withdrawn when it comes to the police station, a magistrate Tuesday said that in future he would be inclined to proceed with the trial, and not heed the request to withdraw.

"IT IS JUST wasting the time of the police department," he said. "If a man is charged with assault and then he withdraws the charge, it is a waste of time and money. I am inclined to proceed with the trial, and not heed the request to withdraw."

Be Sure of Love Before Marriage

Dear Miss Dix: I am a veteran who served five years in the army, three of which were in the Pacific Theatre. I am now 29 years old. I have a good business and feel it is time for me to get married, but my trouble is finding some girl to fall in love with. I have gone with a lot of girls in my life, but none of them appealed to me enough to make me want to marry her.

I am very fond of school teachers, the ones who are not over 28 years of age. What would you suggest?

Answer: My suggestion is to take it easy. Not to be in a hurry to get married. Wait until Miss Right comes along, as she surely will if you have a little patience. Marriage isn't just for the moment, you know. It's for the long stretch, and it seems longer if you tie up to the wrong girl!

YOUR SUGGESTION that you put school teachers on your preferred list should give you a tip as to where to look for a wife. It shows that you value intelligence in a woman, and that, in turn, shows that you value brains yourself. One of the reasons why there are so many unhappy marriages is because most men pick out wives for the outside of their heads. Instead of what's in of them. They marry a girl because she has a pretty face, or a good figure, or a cute way with her, and then they find out that she is dumb, that she never reads anything except the society news and the comic strip and that she has no judgment about anything, they get tired of her and quit her.

But if you pick out a wife from the school teacher class, you will at least get one who has an education. And the chances are that she will give you entertained and amuse you, and be a reasonable human being and easy to get along with. But marry your school teacher before she gets hoarse and acquires the habit of correcting you.

Dear Miss Dix: Two years ago I met a soldier who told me that he was married, but that he and his wife were not getting along and had been for some time, and that he was lonely and wanted someone to cheer him up. So we began going together and he kept telling me that he loved me and that he would get a divorce from his wife and marry me.

HE ASKED HIS wife if she wanted to let him go and she told him no. He said that he would get a divorce and get me, but instead of that his mother wrote me that he and his wife had made up their quarrel and he had gone back to her.

What can I do about this? I still have all of his letters telling me how he loved me. Do you think I could take it up in court?

Answer: You have made one mistake. Don't make another by making yourself ridiculous, taking your blighted affection into court. You knew all along that the soldier was a married man and that he couldn't marry you even if he wanted to so his love-making didn't amount to anything.

The best thing you can do is to forget him and fix your affections on some man whose intentions are with honorable intentions.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I am a woman in my thirties. While I was still in my teens I became the mistress of a man who is now more than twenty years older than I am. He has been much kinder and generous to me, gives me money, pretty clothes, jewelry, long trips, but I have had never happy. There is no one I would like to marry and settle down, but I never have a chance to meet any young men. In fact, I am never invited to any parties where there are eligible young men.

I am unhappy and long for a home and companionship with someone my own age.

Answer: You have had your cake and eaten it. There is never any going back for a woman.

THE EARTH'S ZONES

The distance all around 360 degrees, or any circle, is called 360 degrees. We write it 360°. This is a circle of 360 degrees and studying the earth that we use miles. The distance between the Equator and the North Pole, or the Equator and the South Pole, is one-half of the whole distance around the globe, or 90°. The earth is so tilted on its axis in relation to the sun that on the summer solstice, June 22, the whole sun between the North Pole and an imaginary line drawn around the earth 23½° south of the Equator is in constant daylight. And the same between the South Pole and a line 23½° north of the pole has twenty-four hours of darkness. On the winter solstice, Dec. 22, the day and darkness are reversed. (See the diagram.)

You already know that we draw a line about the middle of the globe and call it the Equator. Long ago men drew lines 23½° from the poles. The line near the North Pole they called the Arctic Circle. The line near the South Pole they called the Antarctic Circle. The Arctic Circle comes from the Greek word meaning northern. Antarctica means the opposite of Arctic; therefore, it is the Southern Circle.

On the equinoxes, March 21 and Sept. 23, the sun's light and heat strike directly at the Equator and taper off toward the poles.

During the six months between March 21 and Sept. 23, the very top of the globe, the North Pole, has constant sunlight -- no night at all. Between Sept. 23 and March 21, the North Pole has six months of darkness. At the South Pole, the opposite is true.

In our summer, as you travel from the Arctic Circle to the North Pole, you find longer and longer days. In our winter, you would find longer nights the farther north you went. Again, around the South Pole the story is just the reverse. At any time between Sept. 23 and March 21, as you go from the Arctic Circle to the South Pole, days grow longer.

On June 22, the earth's position causes it to catch the sun's light and heat most directly at a line 23½° north of the Equator. We call this line the Tropic of Cancer. The sun's light and heat fall most directly on a line 23½° south of the Equator.

Why Grow Old?

Many women clutch their bags for dear life and have as much difficulty leaving what to do with them as with their hands. Bags should be carried easily and comfortably. The reason thing is, we call them handbags but they should be carried in the hand. Here is a few suggestions about how to hold various styles to the most attractive manner.

If you have a one or two strap bag, with straps of medium length, you should carry it in one of two ways. Either place the straps half way between your knee and elbow and let it swing, or use the rein method. If you prefer the latter, which is practical when in crowds, hold the straps just above the center of the bag. If your bag is one of the one strap variety, with the strap coming from the center of the bag, it should not be carried in a broadside manner. The bag itself should be slightly back of the centre line.

One strap bag can be carried under the arm. However, they should not be pushed up under the arm but rest easily on the lower arm with the hand curled about it. They should be carried in the hand which you can carry in your hand if it is small enough. You should hold this tightly against you. Otherwise you create a grim impression.

So many small characteristics and mannerisms affect the charming whole. I have you will find suggestions as interesting as I did, for frankly, many times I have found myself wondering just how to carry a new bag, and while writing this I realize that I have been guilty of bag clucking too.

A shoulder strap bag, such as a Aetna Kestle Brooks is wearing, should be carried slightly back of the centre line of the body.

But when it hit the dirt it stayed there, with two of the cars bogged down in V-formation. The train had 300 persons on board; 47 of them were injured.

AND THE MIRROR HICCUPS BACK—Penny Wise, 12, watches herself in a mirror on the fifth day of a hiccuping attack in a Detroit hospital. Doctors say it's a nerve condition that may require an operation.

CLOSE THE DOOR, ROVER—Rover's real name is Scout, and he's peering carefully out of the door these days after his owners, Mr. and Mrs. August Marone of New York, spirited him away from a scheduled execution at the pound. Scout was sentenced to die after biting three persons. The Marones have appealed on the basis of his war record in E-9 corps.

LIGHT WORK—The press agent says Glink Todd is dressed like this because she's new polka dot queen. He admitted she was polka-tudinous, but he couldn't explain how the street lamp got into the picture.

WINDJAMMER BEATS THE GUN—The gaff-headed schooner Bellatrix (foreground) looks like she's going places here at starting line of the Miami-Nassau sailing race classic. But she was ahead of the gun and had to start all over again, astern of the rest of the contenders.

THE ICEMAN GOETH DOWN—On his back but still fighting, Col Gardner of the New York Rangers makes a supine reach for the puck in a hockey game against the Toronto Maple Leafs at New York's Madison Square Garden. Two-fisted Gardner grabs the puck in one hand, shoves Maple Leaf player Stanowski out of the way with the other.
